

The Blue Mountains

“ Explore the magical Blue Mountains like never before with a weekend of action packed photography from professional landscape photographer Matt Lauder “

A weekend of photography set in the amazing photographic location of the Blue Mountains will bring your level of photography to a high level. As we explore and shoot from the picturesque lookouts to the deep canopy of trees and waterfalls in the area the course really begins as the techniques behind mastering the light and transforming these compositions it into memorable photographs is explained in detail.

During the day we photograph and at night a Photoshop master class is run as we look over the images taken during the day and post production tips and techniques are show and explained to take advantage of your cameras power and RAW image capture.

This will be a weekend you wont forget.
